

Difficult On Bill of Controls

Wage And Price
Mandatory Curb
Measure to Be Rewritten

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—(P)—The House today junked its mandatory wage and price curb bill and started over on the job of writing an economic control measure.

Beginning with the limited controls President Truman has asked, the House added an anti-hoarding provision as its first step in trying to put together a new and broader bill. Approved 112 to 46, this would make hoarders subject to a year in prison and a $10,000 fine.

The mandatory wage-price bill—providing for ceilings to go on automatically if living costs rise 5 per cent above the level of June 15—was denounced yesterday by President Truman. He called it an invitation for a five percent rise.

The House threw it out on a standing vote of 172 to 161 on which the members were not recorded by name. The idea had been tentatively approved yesterday 159 to 128.

The action left before the House a control bill providing only standby allocation and priorities powers for the president, authority to requisition war-needed materials, to grant production loans and to curb credits.

This bill, however, was subject to amendment to add wage-price controls.

Four Days Maneuvering
The junking of the mandatory bill climaxed four days of House maneuvering in this order:

The banking committee sent to the House floor a bill providing only the limited controls Mr. Truman had asked—not including wage-price powers.

With Congress clamoring for some sort of wage-price controls, Democratic leaders offered a substitute providing power for Mr. Truman to slap ceilings on prices and wages, and ration goods, when and if he thinks those steps are needed.

By adoption of amendments, the House proceeded to rewrite the substitute. It voted for mandatory price-wage controls, limited all control powers to eight months, added a "buy American" clause, and forbade controls on commodity market speculation.

The result was something completely unacceptable to the Truman administration.

So today's vote tossed out the amended substitute and left the House back where it started—with the banking committee's bill.

The House began then to deal with proposed changes in the committee bill.

First, Rep. Crawford (R-Mich.) wanted to change the policy declaration. He didn't like assertions that the bill's powers were needed for this country's support of the United Nations and mutual defense. His attempt to change the language was defeated on a standing vote of 131 to 91.

The House next slapped down a proposal by Rep. Hoffman (R-Mich.) that the secretaries of defense, commerce and the treasury be required to establish fair average prices on all materials and services as a guide to federal and local agencies for enforcing fair prices.

A standing vote of 112 to 46 approved an amendment by Rep. Rogers (D-Fla.) to make hoarders subject to a year in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Hunt C. Moore, board president, made the announcement of the discharge following an executive session of the board. The board did not announce the reason for the discharge.

The board president said Dr. Moore would be continued on the payroll until Sept. 1.

Dr. Moore was formerly superintendent of schools at Mishawaka, Ind., and came to the post here on a term of 3 years and 6 months.

Allison Picks Up in Count Of Absentees

Must Get About
Three to One to Beat Hennings

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 4.—(P)—State Sen. Emory W. Allison, President Truman's man, crept up on his rival for Missouri's Democratic Senatorial nomination today.

Absentee ballots in the first 36 counties reporting, plus Jackson county outside Kansas City and part of the city of St. Louis, gave Allison a 200-vote margin over Thomas C. Hennings, Jr.

At that point in the absentee tabulation, Allison had 834, Hennings 533. This included 13 of the 28 St. Louis wards, where Hennings piled up a 60,000 vote lead in the regular voting.

Allison's rate of gain did not appear big enough to affect the election night outcome. Hennings was the apparent winner in the regular voting by more than 4,000 votes.

Some Not Marked for Senate
The absentee count was not as heavy as expected. County officials explained some of the mail voters did not mark their ballots in the regular voting.

To win, Allison must have a margin of three-to-one or better in the mail vote.

He trailed Hennings. St. Louis lawyer and U.S. Representative, by 4,431 votes in unofficial returns from Tuesday's primary election, with all but 25 of the state's 4,878 precincts in.

The vote was Hennings 179,200; Allison 174,859.

Close in Pettis County
The absentee ballot counting in Pettis county resulted in a neck and neck race between Emory W. Allison, and Thomas C. Hennings, Jr., this morning. The final count resulted in 13 votes for Allison and 12 for Hennings. J. W. "Jim" Hopkins, and Ben M. Johnson, each received two votes out of the twenty-nine Democratic ballots which were cast.

There were thirty-eight absentee ballots, two of which were War ballots. Nine of these were Republican ballots.

Counting was done by the following judges: George Hoffman and W. D. Smith, Republicans, and James Darley and S. J. Timboreus, Democrats. James H. "Jim" Green, county clerk, was

New Blasts
At Acheson

President Firm
In Intent He
Will Keep Him

By Jack Bell
WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—(P)—President Truman's insistence that he will keep Secretary of State Acheson and Secretary of Defense Johnson in his cabinet unconditionally provided new Republican blasts at Acheson today.

Mr. Truman announced at his news conference yesterday his solid backing for the two administration officials. Both have been under hot political fire in connection with charges of American unpreparedness for the Korean war.

The president also:

1. Demanded that the Senate reconsider a 65 to 15 vote earlier in the week rejecting a $100,000,000 loan to Spain. He was

She stated district health nursing is not just for the low-income project group, but for everyone needing public health service, either as a preventative or as a safety measure.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Ivar Bory, first vice-president, in the absence of the president, Miss Hazel Barnett. The invocation was given by Mrs. Lillie Thomas and pep singing was led by Miss Wanda Stevenson, with Miss Doris Stott accompanist.

Reservists to
Be Called Soon

62,000 Needed;
Army Will Not
Wait For Volunteers

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—(P)—The Army announced today it will call out 62,000 individual reservists during September and October, "with or without their consent," for 21 months of duty.

They will come from a pool of about 185,000 enlisted male reservists who are not members of the organized reserve corps units. They will be used primarily to bring the National Guard and organized reserve units to full strength.

The first 32,000 will be in camp by September 15, the remainder by the middle of October, the Army's announcement said.

Those called first will be between 19 and 25 years old. Priority will be determined by the number of dependents. Those with no dependents are to be called first, those with one dependent, second, and those with more than one dependent later on.

This was the first time the Army has called up enlisted reservists who are not in units. About 115,000 reservists who

Rob Memphis Store of $25,471

KINGSFORD, Tenn., Aug. 4.—(P)—Two masked men's hold-up of a $25,471 robbery at the Kingsford business district today.

The money, all in cash, was taken from two of the Kingsford Doby-Taylor department store as they carried it in a bag from a truck to the store.

The robbers accosted James F. Asbury, credit manager, and Guy H. Campbell, secretary, in front of a truck and covered them with pistols.

They said the men forced them into the "heavier" truck, took the money bag and fled to a waiting car.

Contract to Dupont to Work on Bomb

To Design New Facilities For
The 'H' Project

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—(P)—Senator McMahon (D-Corn.) confirmed today that a contract is being negotiated with the DuPont company of Wilmington, Del., for work on the hydrogen bomb.

In a prepared statement earlier this week the Atomic Energy commission stated as much but did not specifically say negotiations were under way.

McMahon, who is chairman of the Senate-House atomic energy committee, made his statement to reporters after a closed meeting of that group with Crawford Greenwall, president of the DuPont Co.

McMahon said the committee approved of the contract which is being negotiated by the commission with DuPont. He said its purpose is "to further progress of the hydrogen bomb project."

He said he expects the contract to be let within the next two weeks and that it would provide for reimbursement of the company for its costs plus a fee.

The earlier commission statement said the DuPont company has been selected to design, build and operate new facilities of "advanced design."

It added these would be for the production of materials "which can be used either for weapons or for civil."

McMahon told reporters no decision has been reached on where the plants will be situated. Previously his committee announced the site may embrace as many as 200,000 acres.

He said that among the factors governing selection will be nearness to a town, large supplies of water and power and invulnerability to attack.

Truman Support
For Winner

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—(P)—President Truman told newsmen yesterday that he always supports the party ticket and that he will support the winner in the Democratic senatorial primary in Missouri.

Emory Allison, who was supported by the President, apparently has been defeated by former Rep. Tom Hennings, Jr., of St. Louis. But Mr. Truman said election of Hennings was not certain, since the absentee ballots have not all been counted.

Mr. Truman also said he is certainly happy over the apparent victory of Paul Aiken in the Democratic Senatorial primary of Kansas over Carl V. Rice, Democratic national committeeman.

The President said he had not been officially apprised of Aiken's victory but that if it is true, he is certainly happy.

The President was told there was a report he had telephoned Aiken his congratulations. He said he had not.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—(P)—A bill lifting all limits on the size of the nation's armed forces was signed yesterday by President Truman.

Flood Waters Are Receding

GREAT BEND, Kas., Aug. 4.—(P)—National Guardsmen were released from flood duty in Great Bend today, but the Red Cross continued to maintain shelters for the homeless.

Seventy of the guardsmen came as the Arkansas river dropped suddenly from the high runoff of 150 feet reached Wednesday midnight. The stage this morning was 44 feet.

The water in the northeast section, which came from the swollen West Walnut Creek, remained at about stationary, however.

Twenty-nine families who had to leave their homes still were being given shelter in other St. Louis Red Cross or church shelters.

Others who remained in their homes in the flood area had been given Army service on national guard duty. With the guards released, officials said it may be necessary to call back a couple of snailshells and a few galemen to man them so that residents of the area could get in and out.

The Red Cross said it hoped to be able to close its shelters Sunday.

Two Girls Hurt
In a Collision

Taken to Hospital
After Accident
Near Green Ridge

Miss Shirley Anson, aged 17, and Miss Fay M. Spry, 17, both of Green Ridge, are patients in the hospital at Windsor. Miss Anson is in a dangerous condition. Both are suffering from injuries received in an automobile accident which occurred about four miles from Green Ridge at 11:40 o'clock Thursday night.

The accident occurred about 3.5 miles north of Highway 52, on Highway 127. Involved were two cars, in which were a group of young people, driving south from Green Ridge.

A 1950 Ford, owned by Emmett Cox 18, Green Ridge, and driven by Miss Spry, with Miss Shirley Anson, Green Ridge and Virgil Jewell, 734 1/2 East Fifth street, both parts also, was being followed by a 1939 Ford driven by Billy Hunter, 18, and with him was Miss Emma Jean Spry, sister of Fay M. Spry. Both cars, according to Highway Patrolman Pete Storr, were traveling between 70 and 75 miles an hour.

The 1950 Ford was in the lead, when suddenly the driver lost control and the car swerved to the right of the road, turned over, turned over on the side and finally landed back on the highway, completely demolished.

Hunter, following in his car, saw what happened, ran into the car to avoid hitting the other car and his car stopped immediately behind the wrecked machine.

This afternoon, Miss Anson, who has a concussion and a broken right shoulder, had not regained consciousness, and her condition was still critical. Miss Spry, whose injuries are less serious, was said to be getting along satisfactorily. All others in the car received minor cuts or injuries and received treatment at the hospital, but were dismissed.

The Windsor hospital, known as Community hospital, is now owned and managed by Miss Leah Cook, a former registered nurse of Sedalia.

Ignorance Widens as The Soviet Power Spreads

By Wes Gallagher
(For DeWitt MacKenzie)

"(N.C.L.C. Wes Gallagher is a columnist and writer at the Associated Press Office at Sedalia. He is currently with the Associated Press.)"

FRANKFURT.—(P)—The greatest contribution toward fanning the flames for a new world war is the ignorance of Russian leaders of the ways of the west.

This is the belief of many tipsters who have worked in Moscow and those who have dealt with the Soviets here and in Berlin.

Because of the big Soviet spy rings which have been exposed, and the ardent collecting of documents of Soviet diplomats all over the world, it has become popular to presume that Stalin and his Politburo are well informed on the western mind.

But there is little indication of this in Soviet propaganda nor in the overt acts of Communist puppets who have lost ground steadily in western Europe for the past five years.

Instead, there appears to be an

Battle Raged

For Four Hours

Surprise Attack
By Evening Cost
Them 600 Dead

By Don Whitehead

ON THE SOUTHERN KOREAN FRONT, Aug. 4.—(P)—American troops counted more than 600 enemy dead today after a battle that shattered the spearhead of an enemy drive on the southern port city of Masan.

The battle was yesterday morning. But not until today was the magnitude of the victory discovered.

The fight forced the North Koreans to withdraw. It delayed their build-up for the important push toward Masan, on the highway to the American port of Pusan.

In a bitter four-hour battle, the 27th regimental combat team, led by Lt. Col. John "Mike" Michaelis of Lancaster, Pa., virtually wiped out an entire enemy regiment.

The Red Colonel in command of the operation was killed.

"The enemy's attack was first assessed as a raid in force on an artillery battery near the regimental command post. It caught the Americans by surprise.

Michaelis' first battalion had returned only the night before from an armored raid 2 miles behind enemy lines. The men, dog-tired, were sleeping around the regimental command post.

The enemy slipped down from the hills. They ran into the Americans.

Jaycees Held
Business Meet

Talked Over Plans
To Help Park Board
Construct Ovens

Members of the Sedalia Junior Chamber of Commerce met Thursday evening at 6:15 o'clock with a dinner followed by a business meeting in the Pioneer room at Dan's.

The business meeting was called to order by Bob Wall president. He announced that the game scheduled for Monday night with the Jaycees of Jefferson City had been called off and a later date would be set for the playing of this game. The Jaycees club will play Tuesday night in a two-light game at Liberty park against the Lions club.

The next discussion in the meeting was on the stand which the Jaycees are going to have at the fair.

Report On Blood Bank

There was a report on the Jaycees Blood Bank that 35 persons had been obtained from the bedside walk blood bank which they had sponsored on the street last Saturday. The goal for the drive is 500 and they hope to build a large part of this from the various factories in town but they need more individual help, it was brought out during discussion.

They discussed the Park board's plans to construct ovens in the parks of the city and their plan to ask various civic clubs to get in and help build them. The Jaycees passed a motion to get behind this program so long as it remained within their budget.

There was also talk of the big Jaycees fair held in Jefferson City last week and the possibility of this club helping to found another organization in another city.

The final business passed upon which the meeting approved was to arrange the meeting from 6:15 o'clock to 7 o'clock to enable the members who work later to attend. The meeting was adjourned until August 17, their next meeting.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—(P)—President Truman asked Congress today for an extra $950,000,000 for naval plane construction and procurement.

In a message to House speaker Sam Rayburn, Mr. Truman said the funds are to be in addition to the $10,500,000,000 emergency defense appropriation requested last month after the outbreak of fighting in Korea.

Congressional sources told reporters the new navy fund would speed up the navy's plane program in line with expanded production intended to bring about a total air force of 69 groups.

If approved, the extra money would give the navy $1,586,269,000 for its plans program for the present fiscal year, which began July 1.

Meeting of the Security Council

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 3.—(P)—Russia's Jakob A. Malik proposed today that the U.N. Security Council order the withdrawal of foreign troops from Korea and invite representatives of Communist China and Korea to attend council discussions on the Korean problem.

Would Bring in Korea

By Max Harelson

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 4.—(P)—Russia was reported ready today to demand that Communist North Korea be invited to take part in the United Nations debate on the Korean conflict.

This report came from usually well-informed quarters as the Security Council prepared to come to grips with the Korean question after beating down a three-day Russian attempt to sidetrack the issue.

Western diplomats are expected to offer vigorous opposition to any move to bring the North Koreans to the council table.

But with Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Jakob A. Malik presiding there could be a prolonged parliamentary wrangle. No representative of North Korea is in this country now.

During previous council debates on Korea—while Russia was still carrying on her boycott—the delegates invited the representative of South Korea, Ambassador John M. Chang, to take part. Malik is expected to ignore Chang.

American Forces
On Pusan Front

Hold; Six Hundred
Of The Foe Killed

By the Associated Press

Heavy tank and infantry fighting exploded on the Pusan front in Southern Korea today.

A communique issued by Gen. Douglas MacArthur early Saturday in Tokyo said the battle erupted Friday morning and there was no let up. The enemy was described as still unable to advance against American defenders who got in some telling counterblows.

Heavy troop movements in North Korea suggested that the Communists were drawing reinforcements from battle-trained Koreans in Manchuria, but 45 enemy tanks reported advancing into the battle area turned out to be old wrecks.

The battle raged on an arc from 20 miles southeast of Chunju to 11 miles east and 15 miles northeast of Chunju. This would be from 35 to 45 miles west of Pusan, last-ditch Allied base port.

At one point a North Korean force of about 850 stabbed to within 35 miles of Pusan and only eight miles from Masan. The 27th regimental combat team, which had just made a 22-mile reconnaissance in force into enemy territory, counted 600 North Korean dead including the commanding colonel, after the four-hour battle.

Kill 16 Americans

Big 1554 fired point blank into the enemy, and enemy dead were left scattered over ridges, rice paddies and in a ruined village. Even American bakers and mechanics helped turn back the attack. The American team lost 16 killed and 44 wounded.

U.S. Marines flying carrier-borne planes got into their first action. Marine combat troops, in positions close to the 27th regimental combat team, got their first sight of an enemy patrol, but exchanged no shots.

The U.S. Army in Washington announced a call to 62,000 individual enlisted reservists for September and October to bring National Guard and organized reserve units to full strength.

A Hong Kong newspaper reported that Chinese Communist General Lin Piao, known as the Manchurian hammer, was being slated for an "important assignment" in the northeast, possibly in Manchuria on the North Korean border.

The U.S. 25th Infantry Division moved 80 miles from the north and met the brunt of the enemy attack in the south.

The much-battered 24th Infantry Division, veterans of the battle of the Kum river and Taegon, was shifted to a quieter sector along the Nakdong river. It dispersed some North Korean patrols probing the new positions.

Britain Lays Down Big Sum For Defense

Plans Three Year Program If U. S. Help Dig Up Money

By Arthur Gavshan
LONDON, August 4 — (AP) — Britain has announced that she plans a $9,520,000,000 three-year program to build up western defenses against Soviet Russia, if the United States will help pay the bill.

In return for U. S. financial aid, Britain offered to supply her North Atlantic Pact partners with free military equipment made in Britain.

Welcomed Idea
President Truman told a news conference in Washington he welcomed the development. He expressed hope that other North Atlantic treaty nations will take similar steps.

The British government issued the details in advance for release at 12:30 a. m. British summer time Friday (6:30 p. m. EST Thursday). President Truman's comment released the news about three hours ahead of time. He spoke in answer to a question from a British correspondent.

A statement from Prime Minister Attlee's office said the program would increase Britain's total defense expenditure from nearly eight per cent of the national income to 10 per cent.

Britain's labor government is ready in principle to make this increase, the statement said, but fulfillment will "depend on the amount of United States assistance forthcoming."

Entail Sacrifices
"This burden would be so heavy that it would be impossible to carry out the full program without substantial United States assistance in addition to completion of the European recovery program due to end in 1952," it said. "Even so it will entail real and substantial sacrifices by the British people."

The statement said the program will inevitably slow down the postwar recovery of the United Kingdom but the government is anxious to contribute "to the defense of the free world in the present threatening situation."

Britain, it went on, could not undertake so big a defense program "unless the United States can offer financial assistance," part in materials and part in freely-convertible dollars.

Britain announced willingness to transfer an unspecified quantity of British-made military equipment to her Atlantic allies who were in need, to help in the common job of building up a balanced collective defense.

Miss Bertha Smith To Be Honored In Marshall

MARSHALL Mo., Aug. 4 — (AP) — Miss Bertha Smith, missionary missing in Korea, will be honored Sunday in more than 60 churches of the Marshall district of the Methodist church.

Miss Smith, whose home is near here, was one of five missionaries captured June 25 by North Korean Communist forces in Kaesong.

The Marshall district of the Women's Society of Christian Service has supported Miss Smith since her return to Korea in 1947.

Mrs. W. L. Perryman, president of the Conference Women's Society, said part of the observance would be special prayers for the safety of the captured missionaries.

She added that similar observances would be held in the other districts of the Southwest Missouri conference on Aug. 27.

Stalin's Record May Be No Different Than Hitler's Was

By Wes Gallagher
(For J. M. Roberts, Jr.)
FRANKFURT, Aug. 4 — (AP) — Are the masters of the Kremlin power drunk, blunderers or subtle political geniuses?

Since the huge territorial expansion of Communism in the East it has become the fashion to envision Russia's politburo as a super political brain.

Western pundits examine the simplest Soviet acts, the most ridiculous Red propaganda statements for hidden booby traps and secret meanings.

Simple Moves
The same thing was done with Hitler. His simplest move was looked upon as part of a master plan. But captured records revealed Hitler as a vain, misinformed man who would not listen to advisors and conducted his affairs by intuition and improvisation.

Today Stalin and his politburo are looked upon as the schemers with the master plan.

When the record is revealed, will it be any different than Hitler's?

Let us take a look at what Russia might have had if she had followed a more subtle program of political expansion in the past five years.

In 1945 the Red army was scattered across Europe from the Adriatic to the Baltic.

Russia had a veto voice in all the affairs of Germany including the vital Ruhr through the allied control council.

Communists were in the governments of France, Italy and spread through the vitals of every labor union in Europe.

Great Britain and the United States were preoccupied with demobilization and tearing down their war machines.

Could Of Been Big

By saying "yes" instead of "no" a few times in the allied control council, of Germany, by allowing their Communist stooges to cooperate instead of obstruct, Soviet gains would have been enormous.

Russia would have had a voice in the conduct of all of Germany and life and death power over the Ruhr which they covet so much.

Russia's controlled Communists by a few gestures of cooperation, would still be in the French government.

The greatest blow to Communist hopes was dealt by the European recovery program (ERP) which eliminated much of the nursery on which Communism thrives.

Russia missed its chance to wreck ERP when the late Foreign Minister Molotov walked out.

While Soviet friendship turned to violent propaganda trades, the respect of good will disappeared and great Britain and the United States started putting back together their war machines.

Communists acts aroused and united French opposition into a common cause.

Another major Soviet blunder, the "Blockade of Berlin," aroused the west to unite against Russian pressure. Western prestige was raised enormously when the blockade was broken.

Soviet successes have been in the two places one, where the Red army was on hand to enforce its decisions such as in eastern Europe, but a major political rope two, where Communism has stricken from the Soviet point of view.

It is felt by some that the Soviet, made a master move by outangling the United States forces in fighting a Communist satellite in Korea.

But does it make good reading in the Kremlin as a direct result of the fighting in Korea, the United States will spend ten billions more on arms and partly mobilize?

Is it good reading that the Korea fighting is spurring western Europe's rearmament?

Was it a wise move that the Soviets walked out of the Security

Russia Boycotts Session

Malik Faces New Defeat On Seating Of Red China In Security Council

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 3.—(AP)—In a bitter session, scarred by charges of blackmail and slander, the Security Council rejected tonight a Russian attempt to have the Council consider admission of Red China ahead of the Korean war.

Instead, the Council approved a United States motion to keep on discussing North Korean aggression and to try for a way to continue the war to Korea alone.

The vote to substitute the United States proposal for the Russian item was 8 to 1. The Soviet Union voted alone and this did not count as a veto since agenda votes are considered as procedure and not major importance. The United States, Britain, France, Nationalist China, Norway, Cuba, Ecuador and Egypt voted for it. India and Yugoslavia abstained.

U. S. Proposal
The United States proposal was to consider immediately "aggression upon the republic of Korea." The Russians sought to make the item read "peaceful settlement of the Korean question." They were voted down on this also. The Council likewise refused even to put the Chinese question on its agenda.

Jakob A. Malik, Russian president of the Council, called all the votes "illegal" because they were taken without the presence of Red China, but he showed no sign of walking out after the series of diplomatic defeats. He called another Council meeting for tomorrow.

United States chief delegate Warren A. Austin swapped blunt language with Malik. Malik charged the United States with "flagrant, open and active aggression" against the people of Korea. He told the Council the U. N. must choose between the Moscow brand of peace or follow the United States along a path the Russian called aggression.

"New Slanders"
Red faced and angry, Austin shouted back that Malik had uttered "a new slander, a new threat, a new provocation." Austin said the world is tired of hearing such "shameless travesties" while sons of nations are dying in Korea.

Malik countered that Austin was trying to blackmail him but that Austin had "directed his remarks to the wrong address."

Malik started the action by using the bluntest terms he has adopted since he returned Tuesday after a long boycott. In a 32-minute speech, he called the Korean conflict civil war and declared: "The Security Council must choose between courses that lead to peace or to war. It must choose between the course that leads to war, by dragging in more and more countries, or it must choose the path of peace favored by all peace-loving nations of the world, led by the Soviet Union."

Austin Speaks His Piece
Then, Austin, red-faced and obviously angry, answered Malik.

"I can't remain silent in the face of a repetition of those ancient charges that we have heard for years coming from the Soviet Union," Austin said. "Perhaps I would have remained silent considering its peculiar character except that this statement contains a new slander, a new threat, a new provocation. This statement attacks the United Nations."

Austin pointed to the U. N. command in Korea and noted 53 U. N. members were supporting the effort there.

The Council vote on the Soviet proposal to put the China item on the agenda was five to five. Norway, India, Yugoslavia, Britain and the Soviet Union supported it. The United States, France, Cuba, Ecuador and Nationalist China voted no. Egypt abstained. Seven votes are required to approve any proposal.

The vote on Malik's item tagged as the "peaceful settlement" of the Korean question was three in favor (Egypt, India and Soviet Union) and seven against (United States, Britain, Nationalist China, Cuba, Ecuador, Norway and France). Yugoslavia abstained.

The Russians suffered a fourth defeat today when the Council upheld a British challenge to a procedural ruling on the order of voting. Malik ruled his own draft agenda should be voted on first. The delegates overrode him 7 to 2. (India and Russia). Egypt and Yugoslavia abstained.

Official Count Starts Today

The counting of the absentee ballots cast in the primary election will be done this morning. The official count of the Pettis county election ballots will start this afternoon, and possibly might be held over until Saturday morning, James Green, county clerk, said today.

The county court in session Thursday appointed George Hoffman and W. D. Smith as the Republicans to count the absentee ballots, while the Democratic list submitted to the court was not received until too late for the court to act. The Democrats submitted for judges from which two will be selected are James Durley, S. J. Timmons, Walter Cramer and Joseph Potts.

There are thirty-five regular absentee ballots cast, and two irregular absentee ballots.

The number of Democratic and Republican ballots could not be determined, but from the list of names who sent in the absentee ballots it appears as if there are about 11 Republican ballots out of the 37.

Hennings Holds Edge Of 4431 Votes

550 Absentee Ballots In The Boothill Counties

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Thomas C. Hennings, Jr., sent two men to Penicook county today to keep an eye on the absentee vote situation there.

His managers were surprised that the rural Missouri boothill county had issued so many absentee ballots. There were 550—a total which could have great influence on the outcome of the U. S. senatorial primary between Hennings and Emory W. Allison. Returns from all but 25 small scattered precincts gave Hennings 170,390 votes and Allison, carrying President Truman's endorsement, 174,369. That's an edge of 4431.

The Count Today
Absentee ballots, which may decide the contest, will be counted tomorrow.

The vote in Penicook county was better than two to one for Allison.

Hennings' campaign managers said the vote spotters were Mark Heurley and Joan T. Murphy, a former FBI agent. Both are lawyers.

They went to the Penicook county seat of Caruthersville, where the absentee ballots will be tallied.

Harold S. Jones, county clerk, said the 550 votes there were prompted mostly by interest in heated local races, not by the Hennings-Allison contest.

Most of the persons who asked for absentee ballots, he said, were transient agricultural workers.

Penicook was high on the list in the number of absentee ballots issued in Missouri. Fifteen hundred absentee ballots were sent out from St. Louis, 880 from surrounding St. Louis county, 379 from Jackson county (which includes Kansas City) and 850 from Buchanan county, which takes in St. Joseph.

The count of absentee ballots may not be completed until early next week.

1200 Mail Ballots

A statewide survey of county clerks showed that about 12,300 mail ballots were issued. There was no way of telling how many went to Democrats. Estimates ranged as high as 8000. On this basis, Allison would have to capture about 80 per cent of the absentee vote to wipe out Hennings' advantage.

Bucannon county officials started counting absentee ballots today. After 150 had been counted Hennings had 131 votes to 48 for Allison. The other ballot was Republican.

Take Out Profits On War

Declaration by Lucas as Tax Boosting Bill Action Impends

By Francis M. Le May

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Senate Democratic Leader Lucas said today that, although there may be no immediate tax action against profiteering, the American people can be assured "nobody is going to get rich at the expense of the G. I."

"We are going to take the profits out of war," the Illinois Senator said.

Lucas made his statement as Democratic leaders prepared to turn through Congress a tax-boosting bill, probably near the $5,000,000,000 size President Truman proposed, and without an excess profits levy.

An immediate excess profits tax was not recommended by the President, Lucas said, in the interest of speeding the "first installment" tax like to passage.

He predicted it will come later, with stiff rates on abnormal business profits. And he added: "If we get into a real war, we're going to have the most drastic taxes this country has ever seen. This tax bill is just to get ready for the big one."

Meanwhile, the Senate Finance committee moved swiftly to put the tax bill in shape for quick congressional action.

In its first session behind closed doors, it formally joined the House-approved bill to cut by $1,000,000,000 the excess taxes on such things as tires, jewelry, cosmetics and movie tickets, and approved instead a $55,000,000 excess increase.

It voted:

A 10 per cent manufacturers' excise on television sets, to collect $42,000,000.

A 10 per cent manufacturers' levy on home freezers, for another $8,000,000.

A boost in the slot machine tax from $100 to $150 a year for each machine in operation. The slot machine operators would kick $5,000,000 additional into the Treasury till.

Major Proposals
The committee is yet to act on Mr. Truman's major tax increasing proposals:

1. $3,000,000 additional on individual incomes. The President wants this increase effective October 1, to pick up $700,000,000 in 1950 individual income, with the full force of the $3,000,000 additional burden becoming effective next year.

2. $1,500,000 additional by boosting corporation income taxes. Mr. Truman proposed making this rate hike effective for all 1950 corporation income. Congress may balk here. Some lawmakers are suggesting that the tax be levied on corporation income effective October 1.

3. $500,000,000 from tax law loopholes plugging, a withholding tax on corporation dividends, and levies on the investment income of life insurance companies. They already have been approved by the House.

A drive for immediate action on an excess profits tax, aimed at profiteering, failed in its first test yesterday. The House Ways and Means committee voted down 15 to 8 a proposal by Rep. Mills (D-Ark.) to consider this tax along with a bill providing for renegotiation of government contracts.

The renegotiation bill, similar to a wartime measure, will help the government to drain off undue profits by industries producing guns, ships, planes and other war materials.

Mills contends that an excess profits levy, along with this renegotiation authority would remove undue profits from manufacturers producing civilian goods, and would curb profiteering. He said he will keep fighting for early action on an excess profits tax, to be effective on 1951 income.

Accuse Harry Bridges As A Dangerous Enemy

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 3.—(AP)—The government demanded today in federal court that Harry Bridges be jailed as a "dangerous enemy."

A vigorous denial of the government's charges was entered by Bridges' attorney who contended an effort was being made to deprive the Longshore seamen's right to free speech.

Special Prosecutor F. Joseph Donohue told the court Bridges was being jailed because his actions and statements to his 210 Longshoremen's union indicate his policy toward the Korean war coincides with that of the Communist party.

He begged the court to revoke Bridges' $25,000 bail.

"Harry Bridges is a dangerous enemy to our society and a threat to our national security," Donohue said. "He is a source of comfort to our enemy. He is the enemy."

Jaycees Held Business Meet

Talked Over Plans To Help Park Board Construct Ovens

Members of the Sedalia Junior Chamber of Commerce met Tuesday evening at 6:15 o'clock with a dinner followed by a business meeting in the Pioneer room at Dan's.

The business meeting was called to order by Bob Wal, president. He announced that the game scheduled for Monday night with the Jaycees of Jefferson City had been called off and a later date would be set for the playing of this game. The Jaycees club will play Tuesday night in a two-light game at the Dan's.

The next session in the meeting was on the stand which the Jaycees are going to have at the fair.

Report On Blood Bank
There was a report on the Jaycees Blood Bank that 35 persons had been obtained from the sidewalk blood bank which they and sponsored on the street last Saturday.

The goal for the drive is 500 and they hope to build a large part of this from the various factories in town, but they need more individual help. It was brought out during discussion.

They discussed the Park board's plans to construct ovens in two parks of the city and their plan to ask various civic clubs to get in and help build them. The Jaycees passed a motion to get behind this program so long as it remained within their budget.

There was also talk of the big Jaycees fair held in Jefferson City last week and the possibility of this club helping to fund another organization in another city.

The final business passed upon which the meeting approved was to change the meeting from 6:15 o'clock to 7 o'clock to enable the members who work later to attend. The meeting was adjourned until August 17, their next meeting.

To Have Inquest In Spinster's Death

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Aug. 3.—(AP)—A coroner's inquest was ordered today in the death of a well-to-do spinster who snarled her home with her cat and left him all her money.

Medical examiner John D. Booth of Danbury termed the death "bizarre," and Coroner Theodore E. Seabrook announced:

"I am not satisfied that the said death was not caused by the criminal act, omission or carelessness of any other person or persons x x x."

The inquest will be held next Tuesday in the court at Danbury eight days after the accident.

Booth summoned as a witness Dr. Donald F. Gibson, 47, who lives in Miss Ayres' Danbury home. The doctor was named as the physician of the woman's will. Under the will he gets her entire estate, estimated at from $65,000 to $100,000.

Gibson told a reporter he was planned to marry Miss Anna Weismore, 40, a registered nurse from New Milford, Conn., today. But the wedding had been postponed.

He was listed as attending physician in the death of Miss Weismore's husband, Frank, 42, in 1948.

The physician is reported. Miss Anna Weismore had been employed by him for several years.

"The Danbury medical examiner said extensive tests are being made on the body of Miss Ayres. The body was taken to Yale medical school soon after her death. Her liver was returned to Dr. Booth."

On the certificate issued by Dr. Frank T. Converse the causes of death were given as nephritis, a kidney condition, and cancer of the colon.

Major Floods Have Plagued Three States

More Than 500 Families, Homeless In Wichita Falls

By The Associated Press
Major floods plagued three states yesterday (Thursday) making hundreds of families homeless and running property damage into the millions.

Wichita Falls, Tex., and Hutchinson, Kas., were hardest hit with large areas under water.

No injuries were reported in these cities, but at Philadelphia a 3.84 inch rain brought a minor flash flood that caused three deaths.

Another flash flood Wednesday night disrupted rail and highway traffic near Kanger, Neb., but communications there had been restored Thursday.

Families Forced From Homes
More than 500 families were homeless at Wichita Falls, and just when it appeared the worst was over another unexpected upsurge of water forced 30 more families from their homes.

One-fifth of Hutchinson's residential district was flooded as Cow Creek, unable to handle torrents from week-long heavy rains to the north, poured its flood into the city.

The creek lapped at the top of the dikes protecting the business district Wednesday night and hundreds of volunteers and National Guardsmen worked hours snaggging the levees. A 20-man drop Thursday removed danger of further flooding unless more rains come.

Worst Is Over
It was a different story at Wichita Falls where optimistic reports Thursday morning brought the hope that worst was over.

Just as Holiday Creek, which brought the original flood waters into the city, began to recede a new torrent came down the Big Wichita River and backed up into the creek.

A rise of a few inches more would endanger another portion of the city, tenanted largely by Negroes.

An unidentified boy was swept into a flooded street and drowned in Philadelphia, and Army corps. Frank Seratore was killed in an automobile accident resulting from the storm.

The third fatality was William White, drowned when his canoe was smashed into a bridge on a flooded creek near Philadelphia.

House Votes Automatic Controls

Will Take Effect If Cost Of Living Rises 5 Per Cent

By John B. Owen

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—(AP)—The House voted today for an "automatic" system of automatic price-wage controls, and President Truman promptly condemned it as an invitation to a price rise.

Under the plan, as tentatively approved, price and wage controls would take effect if the cost of living rose five per cent above June 15 levels.

The President would be directed to bring under control those prices and wages which he finds materially affect living costs—basing ceilings on the May 24-June 24 levels.

Mr. Truman told a news conference that he has no objection to giving given authority to roll back prices to a level prevailing between May 24 and June 24.

Invite Price Raise
But the automatic plan voted by the House would invite a five per cent rise in prices, the President contended.

If we are going to have price controls let's have it, he said.

The House proposal would leave the President no say about when to put the ceilings on. The Senate banking committee also is leaning with an automatic controls idea.

The House action is subject to a final vote tomorrow. The decision today was by voice vote.

Members then voted to knock out a proposal of virtually unlimited powers for President Truman to handle labor disputes affecting national defense. The vote was 136 to 83.

This section was not in the original controls bill proposed by Mr. Truman but was included in a broader version introduced yesterday by Democratic leaders apparently to defeat a Republican-sponsored control set-up.

Standing Vote
Landing the House by a standing vote of 159 to 128 tentatively approved the whole bill after tossing a number of other amendments.

One of these would fix March 31, 1951, as the termination date for the bill instead of June 30, 1952.

Members also voted tentatively to exempt Commodity Exchange speculation from emergency credit controls, powers asked by the President.

Food prices rose 2 to 3 per cent for the month ended July 15, according to a preliminary check by the bureau of labor statistics. Meat led the advance.

The Senate committee called for the bureau report to get the current price situation in its study of the cost-of-living amendment offered by Senator Fulbright (D-Ark.).

The Fulbright plan is basically like that adopted in the House today, but the exact formula had not been worked out.

Miss Bertha Smith To Be Honored In Marshall

The Marshall district of the Women's Society of Christian Service has supported Miss Smith since her return to Korea in 1947.

Mrs. W. L. Parryman, president of the Conference Women's Society, said part of the observance would be special prayers for the safety of the captured missionaries.

She added that similar observances would be held in the other districts of the Southwest Missouri conference on Aug. 27.

600 Reds Killed In Fight
It said the Communist attack rolled up yesterday and was beaten back. An estimated 600 North Korean bodies were strewn on the battlefield.

The 25th came to the relief of the battered 24th infantry division. The 24th fought a dogged, delaying action in the long retreat from positions south of Seoul and has been bearing the brunt of the Red drive toward Pusan.

The Communist assault on the 25th was by an estimated four North Korean battalions. The communiqué said another Communist attack in company strength was beaten off northeast of Chinju, 50 miles west of Pusan.

General MacArthur's headquarters, apparently reporting the 25th action, said a regimental combat team drove the Communists back after a six-hour battle. Fighting began at midnight and raged on until 6 a. m., today.

Only Major Fighting
This was the only major fighting along the front, headquarters said.

However, the storm of possible the biggest battle of the Korean war seemed about to break.

Behind the wide Nakdong river, now the new U. S. and South Korean defense line, American armor and men were building up in great quantity, field dispatches said.

Headquarters said reconnaissance showed that the Communists were building up considerable strength in the Taejon area north-west of the river positions around Taegu.

Taegu is the key rail and highway city 55 miles northwest of Pusan. Some Red troops were reported on the west bank of the Nakdong river only seven miles west of Taegu.

Enemy patrols were testing out the Nakdong river line. Two small patrols were reported dispersed in a crossing attempt southwest of Taegu.

Patrol Contacts
The Eighth Army said that only patrol contacts were made on the First Cavalry division front, where the Nakdong winds nearest to Taegu. Some enemy patrols approaching the river were brought under fire.

The last American and South Korean soldiers crossed the broad Nakdong river to the east bank Thursday and blew all bridges. Within an hour, swiftly pursuing Red patrols which had marched 20 miles on foot during the night were sighted on the west side of the Nakdong, said Associated Press correspondent Hal Boyle.

Red artillery also moved forward hurriedly and began shelling the east bank of the Nakdong by noon Thursday at a point 14 miles southwest of Taegu. Red artillery had not yet hit Taegu, which was within easy shelling range.

The second big Red buildup was aimed at Pusan, the southeastern port of 250,000 persons, now swollen by refugees. It is through Pusan that the American Army funnels its supplies to the fighting front.

Hasten To Front
Front dispatches predicted action by nightfall Friday for elements of the newly-landed First Marine division—with their 47-ton Pershing tanks, flamethrowers and super-bazookas—and the well equipped Second Infantry division troops who were hastening to the front.

A Sedalian was killed and his wife injured in an automobile-truck collision three miles east of Sweet Springs, Friday night, when their 1939 Plymouth sedan was demolished by a late model International trailer truck about 7:09 o'clock.

Killed in the accident was William Arthur Hewitt, 58, 511 East Saline street and injured was his wife, Nettie Parson Hewitt, 55, who was admitted to the Dr. Jones Clinic at Sweet Springs with a broken collar bone.

The truck driver, who was identified by Dr. C. L. Lawless, coroner of Saline county as being Z. R. Partridge of Hutchinson, Kas. Dr. Lawless on Saturday made further investigation of the accident Saturday after preliminary inquiries. It was indicated the collision was purely accidental.

Crushed Chest
Dr. Lawless said that death was due to a crushed chest.

He gave the following account of the accident: "The Hewitt car had just passed the truck, both going west and at the top of a hill about three miles east of Sweet Springs where the car started to turn south off the highway the truck driver applied his brakes and killed into the car after his wheels had dragged across the highway about fifty or sixty feet. After striking the car in 'dead center' the impact of the collision forced the truck and car forward another fifty to sixty feet."

Demolished Car
Dr. Lawless said the car was demolished and the two occupants, Mr. and Mrs. Hewitt were thrown out of the front seat into the direct path of the truck and when he viewed the body it was lying next to the front of the truck. He said that other bruises, lacerations and scratches were visible on the body but that they had no contribution to the death.

Patridge, about 30 years old, who lives at 3100 North Elm in Hutchinson, Kas., was not injured and the wholesale food truck which he was driving received only slight damages.

Body at Ewing's

New Greeting To Job Seekers

Thousands of Missourians now receive a new greeting when they walk up to the counters in offices of the Missouri Division of Employment Security this week in search of jobs and to file their claims for unemployment insurance.

Persons first will be asked: "What is your social security number, please?"

Hereafter the representatives of the Division have had a primary interest in the claimant's name, the social security number being only a part of the necessary information required to process a claim for unemployment benefits.

"The reason for the abrupt change," Charles A. Ricker, director of the agency said, "is primarily in the interests of administrative efficiency and insurance that the claimant receiving unemployment benefits is the person entitled to them."

"There have been instances, where as an example, John Brown, Jr., has received benefit checks issued for John Brown, Sr. Similarly in names also has caused misdirection of benefit checks. The new system should eliminate those errors."

A recent check of Division records indicates that 2,648,883 Missourians hold social security numbers. Duplicates of each number issued in Missouri by the government are kept in the Division's files in Jefferson City in both numerical and alphabetical sequence. The cards in these files form the basis for authentication of all wage credits and benefit payments.

"We have been using the social security numbers in all central office operations a long time in our anti-chisel program," Mr. Ricker added. "This primary use of social security numbers in local office procedure will enable us to do even a better job in avoiding payments to persons not entitled to them."

Ft. Leonard Wood To Be Re-Opened

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 1.—(AP)—Fort Leonard Wood, covering 66,000 acres of Missouri Ozark hills and valleys, will be re-opened as an army replacement training center, possibly by Sept. 1, it was announced by Gov. Forrest Smith today.

Smith said that while he regretted the reason for its re-opening—the Korean conflict—still he felt the department of defense acted wisely in choosing the Fort for immediate use. The Fort is about 60 miles south of Jefferson City, near Waynesville, Mo.

The governor said its terrain, with wooded hills and open valleys cut irregularly by several streams, made it particularly adaptable for training engineer and infantry units. Smith said the president officer at the Fort recently appraised its condition, finding it could be put back into shape for about $1,500,000.

The first ground was broken for the Fort in late 1940 and its first division, the sixth infantry from Minnesota, arrived about 18 months later. During the following four years some 300,000 troops went through training there. Its capacity is about 30,000 men.

The Fort was named after Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, a Spanish-American war hero and one-time governor general of the Philippines.

In the post-war years Fort Wood has been used as summer training center for the 34th and 35th National Guard divisions. The 34th, from Iowa and Nebraska, is encamped there now. The 35th, President Truman's old World War I outfit and made up of guardsmen from Missouri and Kansas, goes into camp Aug. 13.

Nehru Would Let Red China in UN

NEW DELHI, India, Aug. 3.—(P)—Prime minister Nehru declared today that the war in Korea should be contained and no other question should be tied up with the Korean issue.

In a statement to parliament, opening debate on the Korean issue—which is also now before the United Nations—Nehru reiterated that communist China should be admitted to the U. N.

But he said that enlargement of the Korean issue to include such items as Formosa and Indo-China appeared "not only not to be right but also to have dangerous consequences" for the world peace.

In a summation of his views on Korea the Indian leader said that a wrongful act of aggression had taken place there and it must be condemned. He said the war should not be permitted to spread and no other question should be tied up with the Korean issue. As to the future of Korea, he added, it must be decided by the Koreans themselves.

Nehru said he was inclined to believe that if Red China had been admitted to the U. N. "many of the subsequent dangerous developments, including the Korean development, might not have taken place."

Stalin's Record May Be No Different Than Hitler's Was

By Wes Gallagher
(For J. M. Roberts, Jr.)
FRANKFURT, Aug. 3.—(P)—Are the masters of the Kremlin power, drunk, blunderers or subtle politicians, genitors?

Since the huge territorial expansion of Communism in the East it has become the fashion to envision Russia's politburo as a super political brain.

Western pundits examine the simplest Soviet acts, the most ridiculous Red propaganda statements for hidden baby traps and secret meanings.

Simple Moves
The same thing was done with Hitler. His simplest move was looked upon as part of a master plan. But captured records revealed Hitler as a vain, misinformed man who would not listen to advisers and conducted his affairs by intuition and improvisation.

Today Stalin and his politburo are looked upon as the schemers with the master plan.

When the record is revealed, will it be any different than Hitler's?

Let us take a look at what Russia might have had if she followed a more subtle program of political expansion in the past five years.

In 1945 the Red army was sprawled across Europe from the Adriatic to the Baltic.

Russia had a veto voice in all the affairs of Germany including the vital Ruhr through the allied control council.

Communists were in the governments of France, Italy and spread through the vitals of every labor union in Europe.

Great Britain and the United States were preoccupied with demobilization and tearing down their war machines.

Could It Be Big
By saying "yes" instead of "no" a few times in the allied control council, Germany, by allowing their Communist stooges to cooperate instead of obstruct, Soviet gains would have been enormous.

Russia would have had a voice in the conduct of all of Germany and life and death power over the Ruhr which they covet so much.

Russia's controlled Communists, by a few gestures of cooperation, would still be in the French government.

The greatest blow to Communist hopes was dealt by the European recovery program (ERP) which eliminated much of the misery on which Communism thrives.

Russia missed its chance to wreck ERP when the then Foreign Minister Molotov walked out of the rounding Paris meeting.

It cannot be looked upon as anything but a major political blunder from the Soviet point of view.

When Soviet friendship turned to violent propaganda tirades, the reservoir of good will disappeared, and great Britain and the United States started putting back together their war machines.

Communist acts aroused and joined French opposition into a common cause.

Another major Soviet blunder, the "blockade of Berlin," aroused the west to unite against Russian pressure. Western prestige was raised enormously when the blockade was broken.

Soviet successes have been in two places: one, where the Red army was on hand to enforce its decisions such as in eastern Europe; two, where Communism has fed on economic misery and weak and corrupt regimes as in the Far East.

It is felt by some that the Soviets made a master move by enlarging the United States forces in fighting a Communist satellite in Korea.

But goes it make good reading in the Kremlin that as a direct result of the fighting in Korea the United States will spend billions more on arms and party mobilize?

Is it good reading that the Korea fighting is spurring western Europe's rearmament?

Was it a wise move that the Soviets walked out of the Security Council instead of being present to exercise their veto on Korea?

Were all these moves by the Soviet Union over the past five years part of a super engineered master plan?

Or were these the result of applying force without scruple haphazardly by power-mad and badly informed men?

What is the Russian record of European blunders in the past five years points to wisdom and restraint?

South Koreans Wanted to Keep Battle Going

ON THE NAKTONG RIVER LINE, Korea, Aug. 3.—(P)—The Americans had trouble getting one South Korean battalion to withdraw behind the natural barrier of the Naktong river early today. The South Koreans wanted to stay on the west side and fight the Reds.

The South Korean battalion commander refused to move at all yesterday unless he and his men were permitted to attack the Reds for three hours. The U. S. colonel who was trying to move him finally had to agree.

Rev. C. Arthur Freeberg, pastor of the Trinity Lutheran church, officiated.

Mrs. W. L. Lewis, sang, "Beau-tiful Isle" and "Abide With Me" accompanied by Mrs. Mae Moser at the organ.

Friends who served as pallbearers were: Harry Stout, Joseph Scott, Orville Stout, Charles Wooster, Gene Fry and Ross Harkless.

Stake is to Stop Encroachment

MANILA, Aug. 3.—(P)—The stake in the battle for Korea is whether the free peoples "are willing to allow any further encroachment by aggressive totalitarian forces upon the free areas of the world," Foreign Secretary Carlos P. Romulo said today.

In a statement dictated from his sick bed in a Manila hotel, and read to a joint session of the Philippines senate committees on national defense and foreign affairs, Romulo, the president of the United Nations general assembly said: "What we do to help the United Nations effort in Korea is the first premium we pay on the insurance we now must take against the risk of aggression and the threat of force by an implacable enemy."

Romulo did not comment on President Elpidio Quirino's decision that the Philippines would send troops to Korea only if General MacArthur asked for them.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Texas Tom Connally Kicks Over Traces at White House

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON.—As congressional leaders gathered in his office to discuss the President's request for an additional $4-billion to arm our Allies, Truman opened the meeting by urging everyone to "speak freely and give me your opinions." He got his wish.

There were two verbal explosions at the secret session, one from Democratic Senator Tom Connally of Texas, who demanded that some of the $4-billion be diverted from ECA spending; another from GOP Congressman Dewey Short of Missouri, who objected to bypassing congressional committees.

"Are all these millions for economic (ECA) aid necessary at a time like this?" demanded Connally, pointing out that if the U.S.A. must tighten its belt economically for war, our European friends should expect less economic help from us. "Why can't some of it be used for military aid?" the Texas Senator asked.

"We can't cut off food to those unfortunate people," explained Secretary of State Acheson, who attended the meeting. He added that this was more important than sending arms—certainly more important in keeping the friendship of Western Europe.

"Yes, but we don't have to feed them for five years," roared the acid-tongued Texan. "Some of our own people need feeding. Besides, not all this ECA money goes for food. Some of it is spent for such things as hydro-electric projects in Europe."

Acheson agreed, but reminded Connally that Western Europeans need electric power not only for peace, but to manufacture arms for use against aggressors.

"It takes two or three years to build a dam and the other facilities needed to produce electric power," shot back Texas Tom, in no mood to be argued down. "We are dealing with a current emergency—the problem of providing military aid now. If an amendment is offered to use some of this ECA money for arms, I'll vote for it."

Acheson agreed that this was the Texan's right, but assured him that the long-range program of economic aid to Europe had been cut to the absolute minimum and further reductions would be dangerous.

Missourians Differ

Congressman Short, the only House Republican from Truman's home state—therefore an object of special disdain at the White House—complained about the strategy of bypassing the Foreign Affairs and Armed Services committees by sending the $4-billion measure directly to the Senate and House Appropriations committees.

"The time you will save will not be worth the bad feeling you will create in Congress," protested Short. "If you went through the regular procedure of getting authorizations from the Foreign Affairs and Armed Services committees, you could still get this bill to the floor in a day."

"A lot of my colleagues will want to know what type of weapons we are sending to Europe—what countries are getting how much—and if the shipments can be made without weakening ourselves. But this information will be denied us."

"As one humble and insignificant member of Congress," the Missourian continued, "I can't say that we should give unanimous approval to this unconstitutional procedure."

"Oh, you're just trying to make an issue out of nothing," snapped the President.

"No, I'm not," retorted his fellow Missourian. "There's a proper and an improper way to handle these matters."

Finally, House GOP Leader Joe Martin intervened in favor of the President.

Wiretapping Probe

Betting odds on Capitol Hill are that the federal grand jury now probing police-state methods and the wiretapping inspired by Senator Brewster of Maine will end in a whitewash.

Despite the efforts of conscientious James McNamara, chief of the Justice Department's criminal division, alibis are arranged to get Senator Brewster and his friends, Pan American Airways, off the hot spot.

In the first place, the Justice Department held the wiretapping report for almost a year and only fished it out of the files after the facts had been exposed in the press. As a result, the statute of limitations is about to expire, but one scant week remains—seven days from today—in which the grand jury can act.

Reds Are Brave—Behind Skirts

Like the gangster who uses his landlady as a shield while he tries to escape from a hideout: ringed by police, the North Koreans are resorting to feminine skirts to screen their military operations.

We recently had a report that a Red tank spearhead thrusting across a key bridge put a large number of Korean women and children at the head of the column. Naturally, American forces held their fire. Behind this protective phalanx, the Red tanks successfully made the crossing.

Is any comment necessary?

Firm Stand, Blunt Talk by UN Might Halt Further Aggression

By Bruce Blossat

Probably nothing is tougher than trying to guess Russia's next move. We'd be wrong, for example, if we imagined the keepers of the Kremlin as mental robots with every step mapped out according to a fixed timetable. The record proves Stalin and his Politburo are opportunists.

They move if and when they view a situation as favorable. Right now no one outside Stalin's ruling circle knows whether Moscow is embarked on a continuing schedule of aggression. If it is, the Politburo will gauge the will to resist shown by the likely victims, measure the aid that might be brought to their side, and act accordingly.

Many observers see Yugoslavia as the most eligible victim on the list. They believe Russia still doesn't wish to commit her own forces out to rely upon satellite armies, as in Korea. And Tito is surrounded by the Red puppet forces of Bulgaria, Albania, Rumania and Hungary.

There's a possible error in this appraisal, however, because Tito's army is generally rated strong enough to beat off satellite attacks. The Yugoslavs themselves believe it. And they reason that the Russians know it, too. Some reports suggest, therefore, that Tito will not be really worried until he hears that Soviet troops are grouping to join an assault against him.

If this attitude reflects a sound judgment of the satellite forces encircling Tito, then doubt must be cast on the choice of Yugoslavia as next victim. For it means Russia would have to enter the fight to assure victory.

On the other hand, the Korean war has been a rude shock to those who tend to underestimate satellite armies. The puppet North Koreans were well trained and supplied from the start. They are being steadily reinforced and resupplied in sufficient strength to maintain their attacking momentum.

In the light of this showing, it's risky to assume that Russia's eastern European satellites would not make plenty of trouble for Tito if no single Soviet soldier should march.

Anyway, we can't really measure satellite strength or Russia's intent with regard to her own forces. But there's one thing we and the rest of the free world can do to alter the equation the Politburo will consider when it debates the next move:

Speaking through the United Nations, we can tell Moscow that Yugoslavia will get the same kind of help from non-Communist countries that the South Koreans are getting. We can declare this in specific language that will dispel all doubts in the minds of the Kremlin's opportunists.

Already we've said we would take a "serious view" of further Red aggression, and the UN has hinted it would act as it did in Korea. But hints and vague statements do not deter invasion. Firm, clear talk is the need.

Governors all over the nation could well copy the initiative of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York in the civilian defense field. He's been having emergency talks with his cabinet on defense plans for the whole state.

As Dewey points out and national authorities concede, the states up to now have received virtually no guidance from the federal government in preparing an adequate civilian defense. They have no choice but to take matters into their own hands and plunge ahead.

W. Stuart Symington, chairman of the National Security Resources Board, is the key federal executive in this field. But until he was named to the job a few months ago the post had been vacant for months.

And no one in Washington apparently took civilian defense seriously until last September when it was learned Russia had the A-Bomb.

The truth is that though some cities have test programs under way, no community is ready now to face an A-Bomb attack. The lack of efficient civilian defense could be, in Symington's view, the difference between a serious and a fatal disaster.

"It is estimated that with only 15 minutes' warning as against no warning, and under efficiently planned civilian defense, the casualties in a city hit by an atomic bomb could be reduced 50 per cent," he said recently.

Unfortunately for such plans, no one has ever decided yet whether the cost of civilian defense staffs and equipment should be borne by the federal government or the states and cities.

One need not be an alarmist about the prospects of the Korean war spreading into general war to realize the time is long past for feeble inaction in this field. Harsh reality, uncolored by hysteria, requires us to be prepared for the worst in a world that contains the Soviet Union.

No A-Bomb attack may ever come; but if it does, it will then be too late to talk about combating its results with effective defense.

In New York a State Civil Defense Commission has been created and provided with $100,000 to get going. State officials have been working on preliminaries for nearly a year, and Dewey's emergency cabinet sessions were the signal for the commission to move ahead at top speed.

Some states may already be taking similar strides. Certainly none which would be likely targets in an atomic war can afford to delay further the making of specific civilian defense plans. And perhaps if they begin showing the way, the federal government will be spurred at long last to establish an effective over-all program.

So They Say

In the Department of Defense, unification is a fact at all levels.

—J. Thomas Schneider, chairman, Defense Department's Personnel Policy Board.

Admittedly the United Nations is an imperfect organization, but so long as this forum remains open, there are cracks in the Iron Curtain through which some of our ideas will penetrate.

Gen. George C. Marshall.

I still hope that the unity . . . among all the Western democracies and Atlantic powers will ward off from us the terror and unspeakable miseries of a third world war.

—Winston Churchill.

THE KINGDOM AS PERVASION AND INVASION

The Kingdom of God is at your doors! We have seen that when we welcome this invading Kingdom we welcome the Heavenly Natural—the Homeland of our soul. Jesus said, "The earth desires that you be at home in it." The seed and the seed are made for each other. The soil of your being and the seed of the Kingdom are at the same time. You have not to grow the poisonous weeds of sin in the soil of your being out the whole process brought, not comfort, but conflict, not rest, but rebellion.

When the child passes from the womb to the outer world, it finds a world for which it is made—air for its lungs, light for its eyes, food for its stomach, love for its affectional nature, and a world of growth for its latent possibilities. The child and the world are made for each other. So you and I are made for the Kingdom.

But Christianity is not merely the awakening of the Kingdom within. It is an invasion of the Kingdom from without. If it were only the first, we should get the interpretation of the nature of the Kingdom by looking within. But the nature of the Kingdom cannot be truly seen by looking within, for we have so overlaid that Kingdom by unnatural ways of life that the interpretation is blurred. Only in the face of Christ do we see the nature of the Kingdom. But we see more than the nature of the Kingdom in Christ—we see in Him what it costs God to get to us in spite of our sin. The Kingdom at our doors is there through the Incarnation, down to us through a Cross, down to us through a Resurrection, down to the very threshold of our being, there to await our consent for entrance.

Something crucial, something decisive had to happen in history before the Kingdom could stand at our doors. The barriers have been broken down from God's side by His offensive of suffering, redemptive love. The cross is therefore the pivot upon which history turns.

Gracious Christ, Thou has come to me at a supreme cost. Help me to respond to Thee with all the cost I can pay. For Thy Kingdom knocks with nail-pierced hands at my doors. Help me to open with hands that are willing to be pierced. Amen.

Probably the most common of the defects or difficulties which are present at birth, are the so-called blemishes on the skin. When in a conspicuous place and on girls, these cause a great deal of distress to the parents.

Q—My daughter has a birthmark between her eyebrows. Can an operation or medicine take it away?—Mrs. H.

A—There are several different kinds of birthmarks. Many of them can be quite satisfactorily treated early in life by X-rays, radium, or other measures. Surgery is sometimes used. The thing to do is to get expert advice while the child is still very young and certainly before school age, especially if when other children may make fun of the mark or otherwise harm the youngster's psychological reactions.

Q—How dangerous is rheumatic fever? Is it catching? Do you ever get over it?—Mrs. F. L.

A—Rheumatic fever is a serious disease because it so often affects the heart. Rheumatic fever itself is not directly contagious. Many people recover from an acute attack of rheumatic fever without any harmful effects, that is, the joints improve entirely and the heart does not seem to be affected. However, in all cases the patient who has had rheumatic fever must be carefully watched for quite a long time.

Q—A few months ago I had a bone misp which showed that I had osteomyelitis in my upper right forearm. I was told that this probably came from blood poisoning two years before. Is this possible?—W. B.

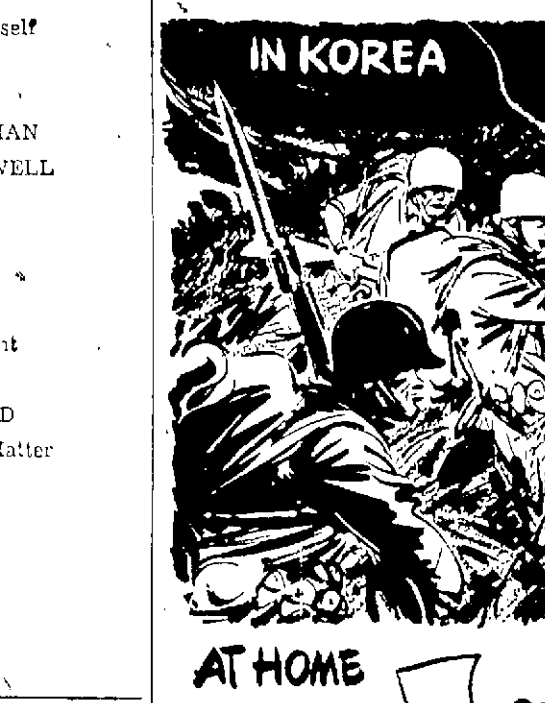

A—Osteomyelitis is an infection of the bone. It could have come from germs in the blood stream which is sometimes called blood poisoning. Osteomyelitis should be carefully cared for but the chances of cure, especially if

ELLIE said in her letter that she was coming East to do a play. "I don't know why I let myself in for this," she wrote. "I suppose I thought it would be a change. I was the last choice for the part, because they couldn't get a star. It's one of those mother-daughter things, and I'm the mother, of course. The funny part is that I'm supposed to be an example of fading glamor. I'm fading, all right, but what little glamor I have belongs to my cameraman. I'll feel awfully naked on that stage, with nothing between me and the audience but my artificial eyelashes."

As it happened, I was out of town during the rehearsals. The reports from New Haven and Boston were good; the show seemed destined to be a hit. I was in the opening night audience waiting tensely for Ellie's entrance.

I suppose most of all I wanted to see what she looked like. I remembered her first entrance that night in the San Francisco movie house, when the audience had snickered. I reminded myself not to be disappointed; the camera can be very flattering.

Then she appeared. There was the usual applause, and she waited a moment. She was dressed simply. Her figure had always been good and she had kept it beautifully. She looked much taller than I remembered her. Her whole posture was different. Her face was thinner, and the strong bones stood out. Her eyes, which had been so absurdly large in the immature face, were magnificent now. She looked years younger than I knew her to be.

Eleanor Lane was not at all laughable. She was not merely handsome or attractive. She was a beautiful woman. I have never been so starstruck in my life.

I did not go backstage that evening. The play was clearly "in," caught early, are much better now than they used to be thanks to the sulfas and to penicillin and its relatives.

Q—I have observed a preponderance of men with extremely thin or bald heads in the 20 to 40 age group. If memory serves me correctly, about 15 or 20 years ago the practice of going without hair became popular with the young men. In your opinion is there any connection between those two circumstances?—Mrs. G. F. W.

A—in my opinion there is not. So far as seems to be known, ordinary baldness is largely a hereditary or family affair. In fact there have been some who claim that wearing hats cause baldness, but this too does not seem to be borne out by the facts.

Q—What are the chances that children of a couple, one of whom is an albino, will also be albinos?—A. G. L.

A—An albino is a person who is lacking in pigment. The hair is white and the skin is also very pale. This is known to be an inherited trait. The children of parents, both of whom are albinos, will also be albinos. The children of one albino and a person with normal pigment (and who does not carry a buried albino trait) will on the average consist of three ordinary pigmented persons and one albino. Albinism is not a disease and except for the pigment albinos are as a rule just as normal as other people.

Q—What can be done to stop unclean perspiration?—N. H. S.

about what happened 20 years ago." I could see she had not forgotten Jack.

And one morning a few weeks later, I had a call from Jack. He was in town and wanted to have lunch with me. When I heard his voice I was delighted. I knew how glad Ellie would be to see him. I hoped I had been right, that he had not married.

We agreed to meet at the restaurant. I was a little late for the appointment and there was no sign of Jack. I started for the bar, when I heard my name called. I turned around. A man was coming toward me. I stared at him blankly for a moment before I said: "Jack!"

NOT only was he no longer good-looking; no one who had not known him in his youth would have believed he was ever handsome. His hair had thinned abruptly, and he was bald in front. He had put on weight. His face was rounder, and his coloring was high. He looked like a good-natured man who had enjoyed his life. He was eminently prepossessing—he looked amiable, prosperous, and pleasant—in a bluff, ruddy way he could have passed for a Man of Distinction—but he did not look like Jack Lanning. Like the quick Mediterranean bloom of some Latin girls, his looks had vanished and left no trace.

He did not seem to notice my astonishment. We got our table and ordered our drinks. After a while I began to recover, as Jack talked on. His smile and his voice, at least, were the same. He still had his old sweeping enthusiasm. He was apparently doing very well. Finally I asked if he had married Ellie.

He was silent. Then he said: "Twice. In the theater. I figured I'd go backstage, but both times I couldn't get up the nerve." He smiled. It was his old, half-woyant, half-smile. It had worked wonders for him 15 years before, but in his middle-aged face it only looked comical. He said: "That's partly why I called you. I have two tickets for tonight. I thought you might take me back afterward. I need moral support."

(To Be Continued)

W. B. Spoke of Jack only once. I told her about the time I had seen him, and asked if he had written later. She shook her head slowly: "No. No, he didn't write. When was it you saw him, exactly?" I told her, and she figured back, thoughtfully. "That must have been just about the time that—well." Then she told me about Ben Mallon.

"Such a long time ago—it doesn't seem possible." She smiled. "You're a romantic, with a great imagination. Jack's had plenty of time to be very successful. And very busy—far too busy to worry

'What Did He See in Her?' Answer is Usually Overlooked

Somebody is finally going to get paid for figuring out the answer to the question, "Who Marries Whom and Why?"

The American Genetic Association has announced a prize of $1000 for the best essay written during 1950 in partial answer to that question.

By all rights, a woman ought to win the contest, for when women don't have anything else to talk about they can always pick out some couple and start wondering out loud why in the world he ever married HER or vice versa.

It's a topic that never ceases to interest and entertain women. Any marriage that doesn't fit men commercial anti-deodorants, most of which contain the same harmless active chemical, are quite satisfactory. In the occasional person who continues to have difficulty, a visit to a skin specialist may be necessary, but even the skin specialist cannot perform miracles.

Women in Korea Fleeing Front

By Bill Shinn

TAEGU, Korea, Aug. 4.—(AP)—Korean women fleeing from the war fronts are abandoning children by the scores with hopes that they will be cared for. South Korean police reported today.

Authorities estimated there are about 3,000,000 helpless refugees in South Korea, ranging from one to seven years old.

Chief Maria Ro of the women's police said mothers leave their children at railway stations with notes asking the police to care for them until the mothers can again find food and a home.

The chief showed me what she said was a typical note. It was from a woman who had fled Taegon, now in the hands of North Koreans. The note was pinned to a year-old baby at the railway station. The note read:

"Dear women police, please take care of this infant for me. I shall return your kindness if I can survive and see you."

Lee Yoon Yang, minister of social affairs, said his ministry operates 301 refugee centers trying to feed and care for tens of thousands of refugees crowding inside the Allied perimeter.

Personal Appeal Made For Arms

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—(AP)—Senator Knowland (R-Calif.) disclosed today that he brought a special personal appeal from the president of South Korea to Washington officials for additional arms and defense equipment seven months before the North Korean Communists invaded in June.

Knowland made the disclosure to reporters after Brig. Gen. William L. Roberts, former head of the U. S. military mission to Korea, had given Senators secret testimony on the Korean situation.

Sensors said Roberts testified that:

1. Washington officials refused numerous requests for additional tanks, planes and heavy guns to arm South Koreans.
2. North Koreans evacuated civilians from a strip 10 miles wide above the 38th parallel before the invasion started.
3. Roberts had no assigned military intelligence officers among his mission of 500, including 300 officers and 200 men.
4. Some persons believed South Koreans might attack North Korea if provided with tanks, planes and heavy equipment.

The general told a news conference in Los Angeles July 14 that the South Koreans "believed the best defense was to attack."

He said this "placed us in a 'scissors' position. To prevent the South Koreans from attacking, we gave them no combat air force, no tanks and no heavy artillery."

Roberts said that when American troops pulled out of South Korea a year ago they left the Korean government $53,000,000 worth of military supplies. He said this included 20 halberd planes, 128 anti-tank guns, about 90 almost obsolete cannon, small arms, ammunition and considerable captured Japanese equipment.

"In the light of what happened," he said, "the equipment was inadequate and not balanced."

Mickey Cohen is Taken in Custody

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—(AP)—Mickey Cohen, Los Angeles gambling boss, was seized by police detectives tonight in the penthouse suite of the swank Ambassador East hotel.

Cohen, being pushed around wherever he goes, the 36-year-old Cohen told deputy chief of detectives John T. O'Malley.

O'Malley said he told Cohen: "You're an undesirable. You ought to leave town."

Cohen reportedly replied, "I'd be glad to."

But detectives took Cohen and a man identified by police as John Stompanato, 34, a Los Angeles jeweler, to the police bureau of identification. O'Malley said they would be fingerprinted and photographed. No charge was placed against them immediately.

Detective chief Andrew Aitken said Cohen had been in Chicago for a week and had moved to the Ambassador hotel after he had been asked to leave the Drake hotel, where he had registered.

Aitken said Cohen also had been asked to leave the Ambassador hotel.

O'Malley said Cohen told him he and Stompanato were driving east after "closing up everything on the coast."

Harriman Goes To The Far East

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—(AP)—President Truman announced today that his special assistant on foreign affairs, W. Averell Harriman, will leave tomorrow for the Far East to confer with Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Mr. Truman told a news conference they will discuss Far Eastern political questions, but he declined to be specific.

He did not rule out discussion of an early Japanese peace treaty. It also appeared obvious that all aspects to the Korean crisis will be explored by Harriman with MacArthur.

Harriman, the President said, will be accompanied by Lt. Gen. Lauris Norstad, deputy chief of staff of the air force, and Maj. Gen. Frank B. Lowe, retired. Lowe was executive secretary of the Truman war investigating committee of the senate during the last year.

A former ambassador of the European recovery program, with headquarters in Paris, Harriman became special assistant to the President little more than a month ago. His task is to aid Mr. Truman in making final decisions on broad policy questions evolved jointly by the state and defense departments and other government agencies with overlapping interests.

As background for this work, Harriman has served in Europe in various diplomatic posts, including that of Ambassador to Russia, but he had virtually no experience in the Far East.

It is understood, therefore, that his purpose in visiting MacArthur is to get first hand information on conditions in that troubled section of the world, as well as MacArthur's ideas on what ought to be done.

Golden Text: Lam. 3:24.
Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Take diligent heed to do the commandment and the law, which Moses the servant of the Lord charged you, to love the Lord your God and to walk in all his ways, and to keep his commandments and to cleave unto him and to serve him with all your heart and with all your soul." (Josh. 22:5). The Bible Neyson, a former missionary, Lesson-Sermon also includes the following from the Christian Science Textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "It should be thoroughly understood that all men have one Mind, one God and Father, one Life, Truth, and Love. Mankind will become perfect in proportion as this fact becomes apparent, war will cease and the true brotherhood of man will be established. Having no other gods, turning to no other but the one perfect Mind to guide him, man is the likeness of God, pure and eternal, having that Mind which was also in Christ." (p. 487).

Evil Kings and Holy Prophets

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

One hundred years or more before the great era and succession of Hebrew prophets began with Amos and Hosea, two memorable prophets, Elijah and Elisha, had appeared in Israel. There is no "Book of Elijah," or "Book of Elisha," as there are books of other prophets, nor is there much record of what these prophets said; but there is a great deal about what they did, and about what they represented as the champions of purity in religion during a time of evil kings and much corruption among the people.

The story of Elijah and Elisha differs considerably from that of the later prophets in the extent to which it is permeated with miraculous and wonder-working incidents. Some of these incidents ought to be read in the light of the New Testament.

When James and John wanted Jesus to call down fire from heaven and consume villages who had used him inhospitably, as Elijah had done to the messengers of Ahab, Jesus had replied, "Ye know not what spirit ye are of." And the picture of Jesus blessing the little children is strangely and beautifully in contrast with that of Elisha, cursing the children who mocked him.

However one may regard such incidents, these earlier prophets were like their later successors in their moral earnestness, their fearlessness in reuking evil and in the intensity of their devotion to the integrity and welfare of Israel. One misses in the entrancing story of their lives and deeds, as told in the Books of Kings, the grandeur and richness of their supreme prophetic vision of the God of the whole world. Fearless in their rebuke of evil, they found plenty of evil to rebuke.

Their story is interwoven with that of kings as typified by King Ahab, who stood between a line of evil predecessors and successors. And to the weakness of the kings was added the strength in the civil of the fanatical and ruthless idolatress, Jezebel, whose name has become a byword for wickedness in women.

It should ever be borne in mind that the prophets' concern for purity or religion was not related just to ritual observance, or their conception of one religion as against another. Idolatry meant which it is permeated with miraculous and wonder-working incidents. Some of these incidents ought to be read in the light of the New Testament.

Leaves From Notebook of War Reporter

By Hal Boyle
With U. S. Troops in Korea.

Leaves from a war reporter's notebook:
Some prisoners of war report that the Red Army is beginning to use Korean recruits to replace casualties in heavy fighting.

"These people (North Koreans) have been damn well trained," said Lt. Col. James W. Stone, of Wilkes Barre, Pa. "If they now have to start using recruits from the south, that's a good sign for us."

He said the enemy artillery and mortar fire is very accurate and explained it this way:
"They have good observation. And a lot of their information comes from underground channels—from agents inside our lines."

A favorite trick of the Reds is to put a command post under fire to try to demoralize it as they infiltrate into American artillery positions. That leaves the Yank infantry without support—and the Reds then come streaming through.

How can they be stopped?
"We will have a stabilized line when a soldier in a hill position can look over five yards and say 'Hi, Joe' to another soldier. Since 'Hi, Joe' is the only proper reserves we can crack them back anywhere they get something through."

Staff officers along the front are convinced that most of the atrocity stories about the conduct of Red troops are true.

"The Guerrillas take no prisoners at all," one said. "The regular North Korean troops will take prisoners at all," one said. The regular North Korean troops will take prisoners if they are able to march. But they won't fool around with wounded prisoners.

These are shot or bayoneted, he said.

One prisoner who escaped the Reds said their army seemed to be made up largely of battlewise noncoms and young Communist enthusiasts.

"These older noncoms aren't such bad Joes," he said. "They've been through combat before and know what it is like. They'll offer you a cigarette or give you a little first aid if you aren't too badly hurt."

But the young soldiers—some of them look 16 or under—are nothing but sadists. They get a kick out of murder."

During the day when a U. S. division was locked with the Reds in the battle for Kuchang, correspondents saw a book on the desk of the commanding general.

It's title: "Tomorrow Will Be Better," a novel by Betty Smith.

"I haven't had a chance to look at it," said Maj. Gen. John Church, Frederick, Md., "but I like the sound of it."

In the division mess hall a hand-cranked phonograph played with "I'm Dreaming of a White Christmas," and then "The Missouri Waltz."

One thing you notice about Korea is that it is a land of silent animals. They are as stoical as the people.

In ten days of driving about the countryside I have heard no bull-lock bellow, no cow low, no calf bleat, no pony whinny—and no dog bark. The dogs here are scraggly creatures that look mangy rather than starved. They appear completely indifferent to traffic and many have been run over because they refuse to leap out of the path of speeding army trucks or jeeps.

Occasionally one dog, more ambitious than the rest, will dart out and chase a vehicle. But he does so soundlessly as if he were loping in a vacuum. He never barks.

But there's one friendly sound—the chirping of English sparrows so familiar on American streets in the horse and buggy days. These

G. I. Joe Himself (Or is it Kilroy?)

Hard-bitten . . . battle-tested . . . combat-wise . . . those are the adjectives that come to mind when you look at this picture of one of the Army's old pros. The adjectives probably apply, too, because he's been around a long time. He's Sergeant first class Elmer Toot at 37 years old, originally hailing from Vermont. He enlisted in the Army in 1918, served in World Wars I and II—and now is showing the youngsters a thing or two in Korea, where this Army signal corps picture was snapped.

Sample Local Delicacy

G.I.'s who discovered a melon patch somewhere in South Korea sample the local product with gusto. In the group are (left to right): Pfc. Clifford Kocher, Benton, Pa.; Pfc. Alfred Bernis Edward, Dannelton, Fla.; Pfc. Floyd Strother, Hatch, N. M.; Pfc. Gilbert Milleson, Baltimore, Md.; Pfc. Leonard Higgs, Ada, Okla.; and Pfc. Royal Sadler, Stonewall, Okla. Is Traveling Northern Highway By Way Of Scooter
FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Aug. 4 (AP)—A one-cylinder motor scooter was Ronald Bulstrode's vehicle as he headed down the Alaska highway toward his home on Long Island, N. Y.

The 28-year-old carpenter hoped to be the first to travel the northern highway by scooter. He expressed confidence that "everything holds together" he will complete the 4,500-mile trip by September.

Accuse Harry Bridges As A Dangerous Enemy

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 4 (AP)—The government demanded Thursday the longshore leader's Bridges be jailed as a "dangerous enemy."

A vigorous denial of the government's charges was entered by Bridges' attorney who contended an effort was being made to juggle the longshore leader's right to free speech.

Special Prosecutor F. Joseph Donohue told the court Bridges must be jailed because his actions and statements to his CIO Longshoremen's union indicate his policy toward the Korean war coincide with that of the Communist party.

He begged the court to revoke Bridges $25,000 bail.

"Harry Bridges is a dangerous enemy to our society and a threat to our national security," Donohue said. "He is a source of comfort to our enemy. He is the enemy."

Tipton

Tipton's Fourth Annual Fair was pleasurable and profitable and so far as attendance is concerned, was a record-breaker.

Saturday night's crowd was the largest in the fair's history, more persons passing through the gate than ever before.

Exhibits were plentiful in all departments—the art hall, the stock rings and horse shows.

The weather was ideal and the Sammy Lane Shows on the midway were well patronized. Music was furnished by the Burceton band, Albert Ellis directing.

Those responsible for bringing about such a successful and highly entertaining exposition are these officers and directors: Al Martin, president, Fred Schmidt, vice-president, Toby Lademann, secretary-treasurer, W. J. Bishop, Arch Morlock, Frank Miller, L. A. Stahl, W. P. Norton and Joe Koehnke.

The premium lists are being prepared and will be published next week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Tucker announce the marriage of their niece, Miss Opal Louise Draffen, to F. W. Payne of Milwaukee, Wis.

The marriage recently took place in Milwaukee, where Mr. Payne is district manager for the Transcontinental Transportation Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Payne will make their home temporarily in Milwaukee.

After spending a few days in Tipton with her uncle and aunt, Mrs. Payne will return to Milwaukee.

Attorney and Mrs. Frank J. Quigley returned home Saturday evening from a two-week vacation.

They first went to St. Louis, remaining a few days and then going to Gatlinburg, Tenn., where the remainder of the time was spent.

Gatlinburg is located in the southeastern part of Tennessee. It is a resort center in the foothills of the Smoky Mountains. The Smoky Hills National Park is located there.

Mr. and Mrs. Quigley report ideal weather on their trip with that section of the country having a little more rain than usual.

Mrs. Louis Womersley after a week's visit here with her mother, Mrs. Ella Geiser, returned to her home in Rockwell City, Ia., last Friday.

Combining pleasure with business a western trip has been completed by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Needy, who were accompanied by their son, Jack, Jr., Miss Needy's mother, Mrs. Leona Hunt, and Jerry Potts.

The trip was taken for Mr. Needy to attend a meeting of the Rural Electrification Association held at Glacier National Park. Mr. Needy, who is manager of the Co-Mo Electric Co-Operative, Inc., being a member of the national board of the association from Missouri.

The vacationists were gone 14 days, returning home Tuesday. They covered between 4,300 and 4,400 miles driving through South Dakota, Yellowstone National Park, Wyo., then to Glacier National Park.

From the convention they went to Salt Lake City, Idaho, the Royal Gorge at Canon City, Colo., and Pike's Peak at Colorado Springs, Colo.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hardy were present at a Ford dealers' luncheon meeting Friday in St. Louis at Hotel Jefferson. They went down the evening before and saw the St. Louis Browns win a baseball game from the New York Yankees, 4 to 3.

Seven Tipton boys spent from Monday until Wednesday on the Lake of the Ozarks at Camp Jennings, south of Gravois Mills, those on the trip being Bobby Capra, Charles and Glen Ryan, Larry Embry, Monte Newkirk, Harold Collier and Deo Matcum.

They were chaperoned by Rev. and Mrs. Robert G. Capra and Rev. L. F. Ryan.

Ball Series In Japan Will Open, Sept. 9

WICHITA, Kas., Aug. 4.—(P)—The inter-hemisphere series between United States and Japanese non-professional baseball champions definitely is scheduled to open in Tokyo, Sept. 9.

So said Raymond Dumont, president of the National Baseball Congress today, after a telephone check with the Congress' commissioner in Japan, Maj. Gen. William F. Marquat in Tokyo.

All future decisions regarding the inter-hemisphere series will be made by General Marquat, Dumont said, adding:

"The occupational authorities in Japan desire that the series continue as planned, as a major good will measure towards the Japanese people and to further the creation of international goodwill between Japan and the United States."

The series—pitting Japan's best diamond talent against the winner of the U. S. national tournament opening here Aug. 18—is "an integral part" of the goodwill objective, "a major objective of the occupational authorities in Japan," Dumont added.

Staging of the series, of course, he said, is contingent upon getting commercial air transportation for the U. S. champions to and from Japan that will not "interfere whatsoever with the Korean war effort."

A favorable airline answer to that problem, he said, is anticipated soon.

Dumont said the series is a "non-profit, goodwill undertaking which has had the close support of General Douglas MacArthur, supreme commander for the allied powers, since its inception."

Phillies Come Up With New Star

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 4.—(P)—Just at the point where the pitching prospects of the Philadelphia Phillies were dimmed by Curt Simmons' call to Army duty, Manager Eddie Sawyer and his Whiz Kids have come up with a new star.

The youngster stepping into harness for the National League leaders is Emory (Bubba) Church, a 24-year-old righthander from Birmingham, Ala., by way of Phillies farm clubs in Salina, Kas., and Toronto.

He looked every inch a front line starter last night in shutting out the Cincinnati Reds with just three hits. What's more, he collected two hits himself, batted home the winning run, and started a double play to choke off a Reds' threat.

The win was Bubba's fifth against one defeat. Why hasn't he been used more? says Sawyer: "We wanted to give him a chance to look around the league first, so he could get his bearings. Then we tried to pick some spots for him."

The picking has been highly successful. In his last three starts he blanked the Chicago Cubs 7-0, yielded a homer to Ralph Kiner in beating the Pirates 4-1, and last night subdued the Reds.

Now it appears the choosing may be ended. Church should be rested and ready to go again Sunday, when the Phils are scheduled for a twin bill with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Lead by Team Of Americans

TOKYO, Aug. 4.—(P)—Three recognized world swimming records were bettered tonight as an American team took the edge over Japan in the first day of a dual meet.

The marks were beaten in the 200-meter freestyle by Japan's Hironoshir. Furukashi; in the 1,500-meter freestyle by Ford Konno, Hawaii's Japanese-American ace who splashed to a big surprise victory, and in the 300-meter medley relay by the U. S. team.

Konno, a 17-year-old U. S. citizen of Japanese ancestry, won the featured metric mile event by soundly beating two of the biggest names in the business—Yale University's John Marshall of Australia and Shiro Hashizume of Japan.

Konno's unexpected triumph helped the Americans establish their 13 to 8 point lead in the first rain-swept night of the three-day dual meet.

Lotion Applied to Shirley's Back

Shirley May France is in the last stages of her training in Dover, England, for her second attempt at swimming the English channel. Coach Harry Boudakian applies lotion to the back of the 17-year-old Somerset, Mass., schoolgirl, who is sponsored by NEA Service, Inc. (NEA Telephoto)

Storm Warnings Are Troublesome Says Shirley May

By Shirley May France
(Copyright, 1950, by NEA Service, Inc.)

DOVER, England — With the day of my swim getting nearer, I'm beginning to think about an old enemy of last summer. That's the storm warning. The storm warning is back again, as troublesome as ever.

Last year, on my first try at conquering the English channel, I was all set to go on several days. But storm warnings held me up.

This year — just a day or so ago — I was just about to dive in for a long training swim. What happened? Another storm warning. And the weather may look like the nicest day of the year, but, if a warning is posted, it means that the channel will be terribly rough in an hour or so.

Well, when the warning was posted and my long swim cancelled, I swam for two hours near the entrance to Dover harbor instead. The water was very rough and a strong easterly wind churned up white caps.

My coach, Harry Boudakian, kept me at a 30-strokes-to-the-minute pace, and I made very good time fighting against the tide. Actually, when I make my real attempt, I'll use a slightly lower speed — perhaps 26 strokes per minute.

We consider a full cycle of both arms as one stroke, so 30 per minute is actually 50 strokes.

Someone wrote and asked me if I use a protective grease coating during my practice swims. The answer is no, because I want to get used to cold water. It's like a ball player swinging two bats before he steps up to the plate — when he does bat, the one bat seems lighter. With me, it will make me feel that much warmer.

For the same reason, I'm wearing a two-piece suit in training. My actual one-piece suit — with the NEA seal on it for NEA Service, Inc. — is sponsoring the swim — will make me feel much warmer, too, when I actually try to make it from France to England.

While I was swimming the other day I was watching the Invicta, a 5,000-ton channel boat which sails from Dover to Calais. At 5,000 tons, it's pretty big. But in the rough channel, it was rolling and dipping like a small ketch.

That's what makes the channel such a challenge to swimmers — it's so big and tough. But that's all the more reason I want to beat it.

Roundup of Big Leagues On Thursday

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—(P)—Detroit's pennant hopes soared to a new high when young Art Houtteman pitched the Tigers to a 5-2 six hit victory over the New York Yankees before 31,713 fans in Briggs stadium Thursday.

Houtteman's neat job enabled the Tigers to sweep the three-game series and it dropped the Yanks out of second into third place. The idle Cleveland Indians moved into the runner-up slot, two and one-half games behind the Tigers. The Yanks are three games back.

The young Tiger ace, who missed his regular turn two days ago because of a strained muscle in his side, had little difficulty gaining his 13th victory.

Boosted RBIs
Detroit slowed the game away in the first inning, scoring four runs off lefty Ed Lopat, the Yanks' biggest winner. Vic Wertz doubled with the bases loaded to drive in the first two runs and coast; his RBI output to 35. Hot Evers and Don Koolway drove in the others.

Fred Sanford relieved Lopat in the first and held the Tigers hitless and runless until he bowed out for a pinch-hitter in the seventh inning. Joe Page finished up and was touched for the Tigers.
